DEDICATORY

We dedicate this laborious work very especially from the bottom of our hearts to our Lord “Jesus Christ” for giving us the wisdom patience and the strength to complete this work.

To our parents to support us during the time of the studies

To our teacher Pedro Vazquez for his patient dedication and effort that he gave us and for giving us the idea to does that task during that long time that he taught us.
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

We dedicate this work from the bottom of our hearts to God, because he gave us the knowledge and the lives.

To our parents for supporting us during the years of the studies in memoriam of my Father Pablo Ruiz that he made an honor man.

To our teachers from UNAN - Managua for supporting us and Pedro Vazquez Umaña for giving us in the final task to finish the degree.

In memoriam of Marcos Calderon professor who was my inspiration to continue on with my studies.
ABSTRACT.

This work was done in order to know the evaluation of the efficiency in the Teaching-Learning process of the English Language in the Military Academy. We began this work with the surveys to twenty students of different groups of studies.

The students said that the main problem of the low score is they do not have enough time for study English.

We want to explain that the students in the Military Academy spend all the time inside of the base. For that reason the teachers demand they are better in the different subjects.

Focus on English subjects we met with the manager and we showed him our final results and he said that they want to increase the English levels because right now they have just four and they will increase to eight, because they have relationship with the United States and they know the importance of this language.

INTRODUCTION

This work was done in the Military Academy with the main objective of identifying the principal causes of the low score in the English of the students checking the evaluation system and if the test / exam has relation with the materials that the teachers taught in the evaluation periods we talked with twenty sample students and we gave them some surveys where they had to consider with their own words, What were the principal causes of that situation? They spend all the time inside of the base some teachers of different subjects punished them if they don’t consider the subject as a principal one and the teacher gave them enough work to spend the time that they use to personal preparation just for one subject.

We met the Academy principal and we explained to him that the English teacher spent two or three hours every day teaching English, but if he doesn’t prepare an English environment it impossible that they increase the English level .He explained to us that this year and the next year they will increase to four English levels because in the curriculum change that they sent to National University Council ( CNN ).They planed that idea with the new vision that Nicaraguan Army has with the has with the mutual relationship with the USA Army and with the Auto-evaluation that they had been working.
RESEARCH QUESTION

How does the evaluation in the teaching – learning process of the English Language the Military Academy (CSEM) prove to be efficiency?
HYPOTHESIS

The continuous evaluation of the English Language Teaching of the students in the Superior Center of Military Studies contributes to the high academic score.
THEORETICAL FRAMEWORK

In fact the tests are one of the main sources of information that the professors obtain from the students and this constitutes the basis of diagnostic about the learning and attitudes and the source.

The evaluation in educational situations offers a wide range of purposes comparison bases, forms of carrying out so that the educational can plan the teaching process indeed, learning is necessary that they know the best thing possible to each student that compose the group.

In our work it was possible to evaluate the capacities and aptitudes as acting and achievements in English as foreign language that required of making use of the purposes of the evolution diagnoses, formative and add.

The knowledge of what the students know at the moment that they begin an educational unit and the identification of information related with problematic areas of their behavior with dyslexia learning. Example dysfunctions, physical impediments, the purpose is to find in the students the connection with average of factors.
A second purpose of the evaluation is to provide information to the teachers about the students’ progress in connection with a program. This is formative evaluation.

The third purpose is to identify as the students have learned in certain point of their educational career, with the objective of qualifying them, since the purpose to add the quantity of knowledge accumulated in the moment that they finish the career.

The Military customs and courtesies are of the first things a soldier or an officer learns. There is more characteristic for a military person.

According to (Defense language Institute 1990: page 12) Military life includes the use of ceremonial procedures that give it dignity and charm. Also should include the teaching learning process of English language. In it is necessary to provide the skills of writing, reading, speaking, listening, grammar. These ones should help to communicative more effectively.

This is very important because some of officer have to go abroad may be to the United States, so they have to communicate with others militaries that speak in English.

The students of the Military Academy expressed us nowadays the English is very important world widely.
But some of them told us the Military subjects are most important because they are going to be Military Officer no translator, speaker in English or something like that.

1. WHY LEARN A FOREIGN LANGUAGE?

Study and learn a new language is very difficult and hard and important. How says: John P. Nelson (1996: page 8)

“Learning a second language can be frustrating, yet it can also be one of the most rewarding experiences of a life time. A second language may be important for your education or profession. But beyond this, it is a pass key that allows you to explore the world and its people in a way that no monolingual person can”

Or how says Paul Pimsleur (1992: page 5) “It takes considerable effort to learn a foreign language, too much for people who vaguely hope to get a better job using such knowledge. English has become the worldwide language of business, and in firms where knowing a foreign language is a job requirement, most find it simpler to employ a foreign person than to train an American Employee.”

It is very necessary to develop a culture as much in the cadet as in the educational this Academy, to offer a great importance to the learning of this new language.

In the teaching-Learning process of a foreign language is indispensable these aspects.

- Be interested and motivated to study it.
- Has enough time for dedicating to study and learn it. According to Ingrid Freebairn (1984 page 17) she thinks the same thing than us “language learning takes time “.

- Has the sufficient, adequate and necessary didactical materials “.

Is important to know that not all the people learn a new language in the same time than other with the same learning strategies, her/his ability to learn it will be depending of herself/himself. The participation of each student is necessary mainly when they are timid.

Jami Hanredd and Elizabeth Whalley (1996 page.2) say that: “Facilitate maximum students’ participation during speak activities allow shy students to interact and probably they will desinhibit themselves”
2. DIDACTICAL MATERIALS

The didactical materials students used in the Superior Center of Military Studies let them develop skills of reading, writing, speaking, listening, pronunciation, Vocabulary and Grammar.

Below we explained about the text used here and we took some examples of the activities that the students do during the classes.

N1 HW Jan 1997 Defense Language Institute

This book contains the homework activities that accompany lessons 1-30 of which are study in one year divided in two parts. One part corresponds to fifteen lessons which are studied in one module it represents six months and others fifteen lessons in others six months.

This course is intended to familiarize students with Basic English survival skills.

English skills students practice in this text is writing with different activities like: circle, write, form, response, change, complete, etc.

Model: (N1 HW 1997, page.6)

Change the affirmative sentences to negative sentences using don’t

This book contains the laboratory exercises which reinforce the objectives in lesson 1-30 and study in one year divided in two parts also.

Fifteen lessons are studied in one module that corresponds to six months equal to the first book we talked at the begin.
In this text the students will need a pen or pencil to do the exercises correctly. All directions are given orally on the tapes. It is important to listen to carefully to the instructions and to do the things the tape tells you to do.

In the listening skill there are some objectives to fulfill the activities that we want the students do. Some of these objectives according to Arthur Hughes (1986 page 134):

- “Listening for specific information
- Obtaining gist of what is being said,
- Following directions,
- Following instructions”.

The activities included in this book students have to do are. Repeat words or sentences, ask and answer questions choose and mark certain words or expressions, or to write special words phrase or sentences.

Volume 1 – Instructor/ Student text.

Defense language Institute

English language Center

Lackland Air force base, Texas.
This volume I of the Nonintensive American Language course is intended to familiarize students with Basic English. In it is included 30 students lesson, these are coordinated homework and laboratory exercises.

This material focuses on three components of the English language.

1. FUNCTIONS:

   - Functions are the ways we use the language to communicate.

   The presentations of various functions are designed to provide the students with appropriate expressions for the best means of communication in a particular situation. The development of the functions begins with mechanical drills and exercises, and culminates in communicative exercises which allow the student to draw on knowledge from previous personal experience.

   Functions are indicated by the following symbol:

2. GRAMAR

   The grammatical structures presented are those which are most frequently used and which the student needs to accomplish the learning objectives.

   Grammar objectives are indicated by the following symbol:
3. VOCABULARY

The vocabulary presented consists of high frequency terms useful to the target population.

Vocabulary objectives are indicated by the following symbol:

LANGUAGE LABORATORY TEXT

The Language laboratory text includes 30 lessons which have been designed to reinforce the objectives vocabulary, grammar and function –presented in the Instructor/students text lesson. To accomplish the activities on the topes correctly, the students must actively respond to and interact with the information on the tape.

HOMEWORK TEXT

The homework text contains 30 lessons which provide the student with additional practice of the objectives studied in the corresponding Instructor/student text lesson.

It also serves as a means of identifying student language deficiencies.

The text of grammar for the American language course (ACC) has been designed to serve as a text to supplement the grammar portion of the course introduction and this book is intended to familiarize with the teaching techniques and methodology of the new general English material of the ACC. This book grammar analyzes and exemplifies the major structures used in the teaching-learning process.

For teaching-Learning process is very important and indispensable the grammar which includes morphology, syntax, vocabulary when learners structure sentences when they develop the writing skill and at the moment they are speaking.

According to Patricia K. Klerner and John P. Nelson (1990 page 4): “A sentence is a group of words that expresses a complete idea. Every sentence includes at least one subject and verb. “

This grammar book contains many rules of the different sentences parts like: Nouns and pronouns, verbs, adjectives and adverbs, determiners and auxiliaries, preposition, phrases, etc
“The basic Unit of English commutation is the sentence, which is learned to structuring when the learners develop grammar skill”. Defense language Institute (1991 page 2)

All of this text described before corresponding to the volume 1 which in the Academy is called level 1.

The others books have the some lessons number and they are studied in the some ways.
2.1. MONOLINGUAL/BILINGUAL DICTIONARIES

The monolingual dictionaries are part of the didactical materials that the students in the CSEM use, but for them the use of them is very difficult because they don’t have the capacity of knowing all of the definition even though the use of bilingual dictionaries is hard, for the pronunciation symbols, that are different.

English teaching volume says that (2005 page 19)

“The idiosyncratic use of pronunciation symbols monolingual American English dictionaries has been a long-standing source of frustration for language students and teachers alike”.

2.2. OTHER DIDACTICAL MATERIALS

The students of the CSEM have access to the laboratory. Here there are enough computers for all of them.

They have access to video, tap recorders, television, and flash card.
3. HOW IS THE EVALUATION?

The evaluation is individual what allows to give pursuit to the periods evaluated is already these systematic, partial or modules.

- The aspects take into account in testing are.
- The profile of the test.
- The construction of the some one.
- The internal distribution of values among the diverse ones remote or articles of the some one.

According to Charles Alderson and Brian North (1991 page 33)

- Test will be based on the needs (or wants) of learning. It would be unreasonable to assess a learner’s ability to do through English something wish he has need or wish to do.

The evaluation during the teaching-learning should guarantee quality to carry out true function like part of the measurements of the learning.
4. WHAT ARE TESTS FOR?

Reasons for Testing

According to Penny Ur (1999 page 9):

“Test may be used as a means to:

1. Give the teacher information about where the students are at the moment, to help decide what to teach next;
2. Give the students information about what they know, so that they also have an awareness of what they need to learn or review;
3. Assess for some purpose external to current teaching;
4. Motivate students to learn or review specific material;
5. Provide a clear indication that the class has reached a `station in` learning, such as the end of a unit, thus contributing to a sense of structure in the course as a whole;
6. Get students to make an effort (in doing the test itself), which is likely to read to better results and a feeling of satisfaction;
7. Give students tasks which themselves may actually provide useful review or practice as well as testing.
8. Provide students with a sense of achievement and progress in their learning”.
Also teachers need to evaluate their strategies they used during the class process, if they are effective, or not, this is reinforced by Jill Robins (1999 page 115) “teacher are also engaged in evaluation activities. First teachers need to evaluate how their students are applying the learning strategies that they have been taught so that they can adapt their instruction to students’ needs. Second, teacher needs to evaluate their own learning strategies instruction.”
RATIONALE

We chose the realization of this topic because we want to know how is the evaluation of the efficiency in the teaching – learning of English language in the superior Center of Military Studies (CSEM)? and the effort of the teachers make when they impart the class of the English. Its is so faulty in this Center of Military teaching. To weigh that now it’s more diffused this and students can memorize easier effective and quickly, it becomes more and more complicated to transmit the language, first for the reason that the Spanish as the English have suffered many idioms and idiomatic because they have combined the use of several languages, being the “Spanish”

With this work the students and teachers will have benefits because the faculty it plans the groups of teachers do not do absolutely nothing to improve the English level students showing the contrary with this final result. Because with the surveys that we made to the students talked that they don’t have time to study and that is the main reason of the low score.
General objective

To gather the necessary information to check the evaluation of the efficiency has during the teaching-learning process of English in the CSEM.

SPECIFIC OBJECTIVES:

1. To verify if the planned tests are focused on the execution of the objectives proposed in the learning of the English language in the students.

2. To recognize the importance of English as foreign language in the Military higher studies.

3. To determine what kind of didactical materials are mostly used in the American language course in the Academy.
VIII DISCUSSION OF RESULTS

The questionnaire has given us much information about the evaluation of the effectiveness in the CSEM.

We elaborated a list of questions for interview to teachers and students which have served as complement to the information gathered though the questionnaire, they have also served to make comparisons and relationships that respond to the problem investigated.

The interviews gave us more specific information about our work.

Observation class: this reinforced the information that we gathered with the surveys and interviews we applied to the teachers and students.

Once the information was gathered we have organized the data according to our task we made comparisons and relation to see how they respond to the problem of the researching; then we processed the data.

Instruments: we have used observation class and interviews to the students to obtain the information in an indirect way.
RESULTS AND DATA ANALYSIS

After having analyzed the interviews on the teachers at Military Academy we have reached to the following results:

These data were gathered by an interview of three teachers between ages of thirty four - forty.
